DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed February 23, 2004 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows:

On originally disclosed page 2, lines 22-23, there is disclosed "a torsion spring as a pressure element, e. g., a leaf spring". This language means that applicant has disclosed an example of a torsion spring is a leaf spring. Given this example, the original disclosure is just of a leaf spring. A torsion spring is not originally disclosed. Furthermore, a torsion spring and a leaf spring are two unrelated types of springs and it is inaccurate to refer to a leaf spring as a particular torsion spring. Examiner believes that from the Figures, a leaf spring is an accurate description of the spring element and the term torsion should be deleted.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-3, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

A torsion spring was not originally disclosed as described in the objections above.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-3, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, line 11 there is claimed a torsion spring, which is unclear as a torsion spring was not originally disclosed. The original language in the specification (as discussed in the objection to the specification above) states that a leaf spring is a specific example of a torsion spring and therefore only a leaf spring is considered to be originally disclosed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 7-11 are allowed.

Prior art does not show a tilting steering column having a leaf spring between locating points and a middle portion of the spring engaged by an actuator to bend the spring and release the connection of the locating points to allow for the adjustment of the steering column.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
